CHASE LANDS A FLEET MARINE, THIEF SUSPECT

Crash of Glass Starts Police on Wild Dash—A Telephone Vegetates Downfall.

HE PROTESTS INNOCENCE

After an hour's exciting brawling hunt at dawn today, Peter Vegetables, a United States marine, was cornered in an alley off Cambridge street and arrested by Officers McCauley and Kellier of Division 1. Glass was smashed in barroom of Patrick Connelley, 100 Endicott, Charlie Brownson at 80 and O'Donnell & Co. at 72, early this morning, which the police expect to connect Vegetables with. No goods were taken at any of the places.

As Patrolman Frank McCauley of Division 1 was about to ring in a duty call at the corner of Endicott and William streets he heard a grating sound followed by a crash of glass. Looking up the street he saw a United States marine with a man in citizen's clothes running away from Carline (Grove's) grocery store at 74 Endicott street. They had been seized away.

Men Would Not Stop. McCauley shouted to the men to stop. They increased their speed. McCauley pursued them, tripping on the sidewalk curbing for assistance. The men were fast leaving the officer in the rear when Officer Kellier turned into Endicott street and saw the men running away. MRS. POWERS WILL NEVER GIVE UP CHILD

AFTER 3,000-MILE TRIP BEAUTIFUL WOMAN IS FIRM—HUSBAND GUARDS BOY.

Special to Boston American. GREENFIELD, May 6.—Never, never, until I secure possession of my missing boy will I cease fighting. With these words pretty Mrs. Anna Dorey Powers closed her eye tightly and stepped her little foot on the carpet in a determined manner.

Mrs. Powers was seen at the home of her parents, she had travelled 3,000 miles from Los Angeles upon hearing that her baby, born from her arms in California and brought here, was sick. "My husband now has possession of my boy, but I shall never rest until the little darling is mine, wholly mine," declared Mrs. Powers.

"To you think for one moment," she explained, "that I would drop the fight now?" "I travelled across the continent to the Pacific slope for the express purpose of finding my own life as I saw fit. My baby's life was involved with mine. I have not abandoned my purpose. We shall live out our lives together, baby and I, and in our own way."

NEW TOWN HALL MINISTERS TO AT BROOKFIELD BAR DIVORCEES

Special to Boston American. BROOKFIELD, May 6.—This town is having a gala celebration today, the occasion being the dedication of the new town hall. As it is the first public celebration in Brookfield for over forty years it drew into the quiet little town thousands of people.

Mikado's Men Found None to Oppose Them at Pitsew—Now Command the Breadth of Liao-Tung Peninsula and Have Russian Stronghold Isolated from Both Land and Sea Succor—Its Reduction Only a Question of Time.

LONDON, MAY 6.—FOR THE SECOND TIME IN ITS HISTORY, PORT ARTHUR IS BE-SIEGED BY THE JAPANESE TROOPS ON LAND AND BY THE MIKADO'S FLEET BY SEA. THE DOWNFALL OF THE RUSSIAN STRONGHOLD SEEMS AS IMMINENT NOW AS IT WAS WHEN THE JAPANESE, DURING THEIR WAR WITH CHINA, MADE PRACTICALLY THE SAME MOVE THEY HAVE NOW ACCOMPLISHED.

PORT ARTHUR, TO-DAY'S DISPATCHES INDICATE, IS COMPLETELY ISOLATED. LANDINGS HAVE BEEN EFFECTED BY THE MIKADO'S TROOPS ON BOTH SHORES OF THE LIAO TUNG PENINSULA.

THE CZAR'S TROOPS FLED AT THE APPROACH OF THE JAPS. THE RUSSIAN VICEROY, ALEXIEFF, AND GRAND DUKE BORIS, HAVE FLED FROM PORT ARTHUR TO THE NORTH. Official confirmation of the reported landings by Japanese troops as well as the bottling up of the Russian warships in the harbor have been made public at St. Petersburg and Tokio. Railroad and telegraph communications with the Russian base at Mukden are expected to be cut off at any moment.

The Japanese apparently planned the move carefully and executed it in accordance with these plans. They were familiar with the work before them, having done the same thing when they captured Port Arthur from the Chinese. The coming struggle, however, will be greater than the former. The Chinese fled in terror, hiding in cellars, when the Japanese invaded the city. Th stronghold is now heavily fortified and manned by experienced troops, who will, in all likelihood, offer desperate resistance. Military authorities here, however, are convinced that Port Arthur must fall within a short time.

NO OPPOSITION TO THE LANDING. On the eastern coast of the Liao Tung peninsula, at Pitsew, the Japanese, when they landed, found there were neither warships nor land batteries to oppose them. Transports also reached the head of Society Bay, on the West coast, landing forces at Port Adams, which is a short distance west of the single line of railroad leading from Port Arthur to Manchuria.

This move places Port Arthur completely at the mercy of the Japanese. That this is realized in St. Petersburg is indicated by dispatches from the Russian capital, where the war board was in session until 2 o'clock this morning. The gravest apprehension prevails there as to the fate of the "Gibraltar of the East," as the Russians have called Port Arthur.

KUROPATKIN CANNOT RELIEVE. It is admitted by experts that it will be impossible for General Kuropatkin to divert any of his forces from the re-enforcement of the badly beaten army at Feng Huan Cheng to the relief of Port Arthur.

GET MORE BENCHES IN THE PUBLIC PARKS!

Public Garden and Common Woefully Lacking in Accommodations for Tired Pedestrians and Women and Children.

The BOSTON AMERICAN herewith respectfully requests the city authorities to supply more benches in Boston Common, in the Public Garden and all the other parks of the city for the use of the public. With the advent of Spring the insufficient number of benches becomes glaringly apparent. The few scattered benches on the Common are pre-empted by "regulars" with the first appearance of the sun in the morning, and from then until evening it is impossible for pedestrians, shoppers and women and children to find vacant seats.

Superintendent William Doogue, in charge of the Common and Public Garden, and seventy smaller parks throughout the city, says his department should have at least 5,000 more benches. At present there are but 3,000 benches scattered here and there in the city's parks.

Others who have studied the conditions in the public parks regard Superintendent Doogue's estimate of the number of additional benches needed as very modest. Twice the number now available would not meet the public need.

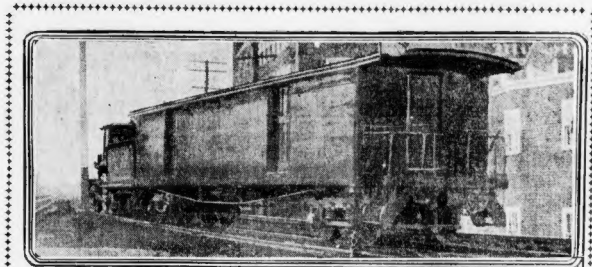

But 3,000 Benches in All the City's 70 Parks, While at Least 5,000 More Are Needed and the Public Must Have Them.

The benches on the Common are placed far apart. They are of absolute and uncomfortable fashion. They are weather worn and unsightly, and many of them are dilapidated. Such as they are, they afford seating capacity for less than a fourth of the men, women and children who would enjoy a rest from work, shopping or play during the warm afternoon hours, under the grateful shade of the big trees, or in the early evening.

The parks belong to the people. They are the lungs of the city, the great breathing places for men and women who toil and who cannot get away into the country.

IT IS THE DUTY OF THE CITY TO FURNISH ALL THE BENCHES THAT ARE NECESSARY, AND TO DO IT AT ONCE.

STRIKERS ASK NORWOOD OFFICIALS TO KEEP ARMED MEN IN BOUNDS

Write Letter Protesting Against Action of H. H. Road, Where There Has Been No Strike.

Boilermakers Indignant at the Presence of 100 Pinkerton Detectives.

The striking boilermakers in the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad shops in Norwood, today sent the following letter, protesting against the employment by the railroad company of armed detectives and special officers, to the Board of Selectmen:

Norwood, May 6, 1904.

To the Honorable, the Selectmen of Norwood.

Continuing—As law-abiding citizens we respectfully call your attention to the action of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company in bringing to this town an armed body of detectives, men called here in charge of a body of men said to be boilermakers, ostensibly to take the places in the boiler department of the car shops, but in reality to create the impression in the minds of our fellow citizens and the public in general that we are a lawless and dangerous town to the community in which we reside, and as such are unworthy of public sympathy or recognition.

Respectfully Protest.

"We most emphatically protest against such a charge of implication and challenge the right of the company or any of its agents or officials to show and prove to the public any act of lawlessness or civil trespass on our part during the time we have refrained from working, and as citizens of Norwood, jealous equally with others for their good name and fame, we hereby request your honorable body to demand of said railroad officials an explanation of the necessity of their action, in bringing an armed body of detectives into this peaceful and law-abiding town, together with the finally expressed hope on your part that during the continuance of their presence in this town the limit of their personal tolerance be strictly confined to their proper duty."

Very respectfully,
Boilermakers Association, Lodge 281,
D. M. S. B. of A.,
Pinkertons on Guard.

This letter is due to the fact that in Norwood of more than a hundred Pinkerton detectives, the force having been augmented by the arrival of fifty armed guards from New York this morning, all of whom were immediately taken to the office of Town Clerk Kiley, where they were registered as strikers' guard.

The machinists and boilermakers register latest move on the part of the New York & New Haven Railroad Company is an indication that the company is making active preparations to protect their property in the event of any trouble among the strikers.

Strikers Are Indignant.

Representatives of the machinists and boilermakers are indignant over the company's attitude, and it is openly asserted today that serious trouble will result should the "railroad police" attempt to interfere with the strikers.

A general strike in the repair shops of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company all along the line of that system, in support of the striking boiler-makers, has practically been determined upon. The 200 union machinists employed in the company's shops at Norwood are obedi-

"There'll be something doing among bakers in New York and New Hampshire if any more bread is brought to this city of the state of New York," is the statement made at the striking bakers' headquarters on Elm street, Boston, during the past few days. "We are on the verge of a general strike," they say, "and we will not be brought to this city of the state of New York and New Hampshire if any more bread is brought to this city of the state of New York."

RAILROAD GAYS KILLS 3

CROWD AT A RUTLAND, V.T., ROADHOUSE IS SUSPECTED OF CRIME NEAR CITY.

RUTLAND, Vt., May 6. The Selectmen and the Sheriff are making a searching investigation, which, it is believed, will establish that three men, whose bodies were found at different points near the Rutland railroad tracks, and who were supposed to have been killed by trains, were in reality the victims of a gang of assassins.

The officials are working on the theory that the assassin killed a man who was on the outskirts of Rutland, and they believe that the bodies were placed near the tracks. But nobody knows who did it, and it is thought that the investigation has been started by the fact that one of the persons formerly connected with the case has been found in the clearing up of four mysterious deaths.

When Murray's body was found at the side of the Rutland Railroad track a small slip of paper was picked up near it upon which was scrawled:

"Eddy, Eddy, Street, with Club."

There was no signature, but it was at the time that the body was found, and with great difficulty Murray just before his death and in the dark. The first three words of the sentence were more distinct than the last three, and there is no doubt of the meaning which the writer intended to convey.

It is believed that Murray was killed for his money, and that his body was thrown near the tracks by the assassin.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 6.—It is reported that Moses Fowler Chase, the young inventor, is rapidly recovering his reason, and is confident that he will recover his reason, the recent order of the Indiana Circuit Court, appointing his father, Benjamin Chase, guardian of his person, might be dissolved, thereby ending the long litigation over his estate.

The boys will face the charge of arson in the South Boston court tomorrow. They tell this tale:

"We visited the store of Paupine Baccus and asked him to give us some more money. He refused. We slipped in and bought a quart. We broke into the house and stole the money. We were away to see the fire engines rush by."

of "Merger."

TECH WON'T GIVE UP NAME

Members of the corporation of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology have taken the first steps in the movement which may ultimately result in Tech becoming a part of Harvard University. They have decided to have their Executive Committee ask for a conference with the Board of Fellows of Harvard to ascertain what action must be taken to secure closer relations with the

The members of the Corporation of Tech have formulated a plan which they will submit to the Board of Fellows. They have laid down certain conditions on which they will insist if amalgamation is to be had.

The most important of these is that under no conditions will Tech surrender its name. The members feel that the fame of the school has become too well established

The conditions that Tech has laid down are no more than other Harvard schools, especially the Law and Medical schools, have done. The Law School is in favor of Tech as a new member of the university. It is thought that no objection to Tech's admission will be made except to the retention of its corporate existence in every way. It is conceded that the McKay Institute, the Law School and Tech are all members of the Harvard community.

It's the right combination of good quality and low price that wins popularity for Morse-made clothing.

There's something about our $15 suits that makes you compare them with the $18 and $20 suits you see about town.

It isn't alone the fabrics. It's the trimmings as well—and the making, the style and the fit.

And they bear the Union

THE DEAF CURED.

The Radiant Light Treatment Incomparable in the Treatment and Cure of Deafness and Head Noises.

Mrs. J. W. Stewart, of 66 Clinton street, Albany, N. Y., says: "I had been deaf for nearly for the past 10 years and in my left ear I could hear only a faint ringing sound. I had been treated by many famous physicians but I received little benefit from the Otoneuronic treatment. I would earnestly advise every deaf person to try this treatment."

ness and head noises to place themselves under the care of the Otolithic Chemist physicians as their "New Radiant Light treatment" is superior to all others.

HEARING RESTORED.

After Doctors and Hospitals Had Failed to Relieve Him.

Mr. R. B. Wilkins, who resides at 11 Hutchinsson Ct., Lynn, Mass., 3237: "I had suffered from deafness in one ear and from bronchitis for ten years. I was unable to hear a watch tick. When people spoke to me on that side I had to turn my head in order to hear. My hearing was so poor that my wife gave me considerable distress and annoyance, could not breathe through my nose and I had a hack and spit all the time. I doctored with a number of local physicians and was treated in the Massachusetts Hospital, but I failed to get any better. I felt that I would not get any better. But, thanks to the Ozone Gas doctors, that I have just found something that can help me. My hearing in the deaf ear has

A black and white photograph showing the dark silhouette of a ship's hull and a single mast against a lighter, hazy horizon. The ship is positioned in the lower half of the frame, with the horizon line cutting across the middle. The sky above is a uniform, light gray, suggesting an overcast day or a distant, misty sea. The overall composition is minimalist and evocative, focusing on the form of the vessel against the vastness of the sea and sky.

60 AND 62 SUMMER ST. BOSTON, MAY 6, 1904

Our readers will find it interesting to go through this list of questions and answer them all, or nearly all, mentally.

As you run your eye down this list, you will reflect with satisfaction on the great spread of general information throughout the world of to-day.

Who said it that Montgomery fell?
 Who sang of "Sky-larks" and was drowned?
 Who gloried "Laura" and was crowned?
 Who was it gave you lucky shars?
 Where was great Shakespeare buried?
 What great Scot's body torn apart?
 Who told the man who was a knight
 Who fiddled when his town burned down?
 Who saved it by their cackling?
 Where moulders the body of John Brown?
 Where was the third George lacking?
 Who did the famous victory win?
 Who was the man that won it?
 Who, butting, took a hickory limb
 To bang her clothes upon a tree?
 What was once heard in Tara's Hall?
 Who was it said, "Worris should hide thought!"
 What battle caused Napoleon's fall?
 And who sang that the "Lionel" was tall?
 Who's buried sitting on a chair on ancient Als Chapelie?
 Whose strength failed when they cut his hair?

Who "bursed the font gazelle"?
 Who was the "best of women"?
 Who chopped that cherry tree?
 And who the deuce was Tuckthorn?
 Whose flag waves for the Frees?
 Who shot himself up in the sky?
 Who ordered "Don't give up the ship"?
 Who crossed the Alps and roused the dust?
 Who made poor Adam strip?
 Who wrote of "Walls and Iron Bars"?
 That do no prison make?
 What crimes clattered by Mars?
 What did Sir Francis Drake?
 Who fights and runs away and lives to fight another day?
 Who marched through the "dark" gives?
 What is the Aplan Way?
 Who saw the "White Horse of the Tail"?
 And who was Pocalonais?
 And who made Eve and Adam fall?
 What knew you of the Ladies?
 Who was the Great Confucius?
 Wherever navigated Columbus?
 What knew you of Copernicus?
 Where flourished Friar Tuck?
 Who was the man who went high,
 Though in his youth split rough rails?
 Who first made wings and tried to fly?
 Who'd it hardest find to fly?
 Who wrote a history of the world?
 Said oceans were the world?
 And how was Arnold's reason fooled?
 Who, being battered, dropped the cheese?
 Where did Columbus find the Indies?
 On crossing this wide ocean?
 Who strangled the "Black and Tan" bag?
 Who said the earth had motion?
 Who wished he'd served his God as well
 As he had served his King?
 Who was it when his gray head fell
 Saved heard from his daughter?
 Who wrote the "cheerful tale of Life"?
 Who got that old arm chair?
 Who cut the "Red and Tan" knife?
 "Star of Empire's sea" goes where?
 What cynic lodged with a tub?
 Whose dream did the "Kant" give?
 Who slew a Lion with a club?
 Whose doctrine did Kant give?
 Now, one more question for to-day
 You'll answer without doubt—
 And that is: "Where was the man
 When the light went out?
 There's not an answer asked for here
 But on on the road to make clear."

Is a Mother to Blame for the Death of Her Child?

BY JANE MEREDITH

Up to then, when a mother gave her teething baby a cucumber and it died in convulsions in consequence, she never dreamed of its being anything except a mysterious dispensation of Providence. If she permitted a woman of her rank to die heavily on diphtheria she mourned because the hand of the Lord was laid heavily on her, and she prayed for consolation, went, but she never thought of looking at the drains. If her babies all perished in infancy, brood-hoarded she searched her conscience, but she was too ignorant to know that her real crime was her failure to keep the baby's milk bottles clean. The women of the lower classes were rarely by intelligent mothers, who take no chances of committing murder on their children. They were too ignorant to know that their babies and girls that would once have been the predestined victims of consumption, were corrupted by the use of proper diet and exercise into robust and healthy men, and that no one but a doctor could tell the difference between the
